

Cookery School at Little Portland Street

In a bright, minimalistic and modern setting, the Cookery School at Little Portland Street hosts enjoyable and imaginative cooking experiences. From appetising bread and sourdough classes to gluten-free cooking, succulent French breakfast pastries to Middle Eastern cuisine, you are completely spoilt for choice in either a class or course. The venue is located two minutes away from Oxford Street. Rosalind Rathouse — the school's passionate and welcoming principal — can make even the most unconfident cook enthusiastic about the kitchen. With plenty of hands-on practice, delicious tastings and question opportunities, this fresh and inspiring school is the perfect culinary experience.

15 Little Portland St, London, +44 20 7631 4590

Pastry making at Cookery School | Courtesy of Little Portland Street Cookery School |